GRAND RAPIDS, WISCONSIN

Athletics Win the Game.

The Wausau Cubs played with the Athletics on Sunday and the visitors were beaten by a score of 9 to 2. It was a walkaway from start to finish and there was no time during the game when the visitors stood a ghost of a show of winning. On this occasion there was very little enthusiasm displayed notwithstanding the fact that there was a large crowd in attendance.

Post caught for the locals and he put up a good game, and if he can do the same thing against a stronger team he would be a good man to fit to. Kinsler pitched a part of the game and Moon, a new man who is being tried out by the boys with a prospect of pitching on the first team, pitched the last half. So far as could be seen by those on the outside Kinsler pitched just as good ball as Moon, although both did well, the runs being made on errors. Had the visiting team been a trifle stronger there would have been a pretty good exhibition of baseball.

Death of Louis Narrows.

Louis Narrows died on Tuesday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hein at the age of 82 years. Deceased was a native of Canada, but came to the United States many years ago, locating at New York. Forty-two years ago he came to Wisconsin, making his home at New London. He lived at New London until about five years ago, when he moved to this city and has since made his home here.

He is survived by a widow and three daughters, the latter being Mrs. Henry Sines of Seattle, Washington, Mrs. Frank Dalloy of Milwaukee and Mrs. Wm. Hein of this city.

The funeral will be held on Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter and Paul church, Rev. Wm. Reddy conducting the services. The G. A. R. post will have charge of the services at the grave, deceased being a veteran of the civil war and a member of the local post.

Death of Mr. Morgan.

F. W. Morgan of the town of Randolph, died on Monday at his home after a lengthy illness, death being caused by stomach trouble. Deceased was formerly a resident of the southern part of the state but has been a resident of the town of Randolph during the past nine years.

He is survived by his wife and a family of children, the latter being mostly grown up.

The funeral occurs on Thursday morning from the Catholic church in Randolph, and the remains will be brought to this city and interred in Calvary cemetery.

Sign Your Name.

Hardly a week passes that communications are not received at this office which the sender neglected to sign and which we consequently cannot publish. Some of these communications are good news and some of them do not amount to much and these latter we do not blame the senders for not signing their names to. Some of them they are evidently ashamed of and we don't blame them a bit.

Sign your name to your communications and if they are worth publishing they will be printed.

Sustained Severe Injuries.

Frank Krummery met with rather a severe accident on Wednesday while at work at the Stange-Ellis plant. He got into a hoist and had his left hand badly crushed and also sustained a severe scalp wound. His wounds were dressed by a surgeon as soon as possible and it is expected that he will recover without suffering any permanent injury.

Says He was Held Up

Henry Zirbel, who lives near Nekeenos, reports that he was held up on the St. Paul tract last night about nine o'clock and relieved of about $28 in cash. He stated to the officers that he had been set up by two men, and that one of them held him while the other went thru his clothes and took his money. He was unable to give much of a description of the men or to tell anything about them, so that the chances of catching them are very slight.

Will Have a Good Team.

Tony Paerzboom has been elected manager of the baseball team by the board of directors, and there is now every indication that we may have a good team here this summer, although it is not the intention to spend the amount of money that has been done other seasons. The members of the association report that they have plenty of applications from good men and they have several in the city who will be tried out.

Band Concert Tonight.

Should the weather be favorable the band will give the first concert of the season tonight. If the weather is bad it will be given tomorrow night. The regular night for the band concert will be Thursday during the summer, and the concerts will be given on Thursday evenings when possible.

Prof. O. E. Hardenberg of the University of Wisconsin, arrived in the city on Tuesday, having been in Madison a few days on business. Mr. Hardenberg will be stationed at the Cranberry experiment station at Cranmoor again this season where he will continue his study of the insects that are detrimental to the raising of cranberries.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Arpin have a baby daughter at their home, the little stranger arriving last night.

Tried to Rob His Friend.

Michael Stankovitch tried to rob Stanley Zdunek on Sunday on the Byron road and as a result Stankovitch is now in the county jail awaiting a hearing, which has been set for the 18th instant, his bond being $1000, where the arm of the law will not reach him.

Both of the interested parties are Russians and do not speak English being employed at the Byron mill while returning home Stankovitch threw a rope over his companion's head and attempted to choke him to death, but owing to the strenuous struggles of the attacked man he was able to make his escape, and made a lively sprint for Byron, where he appeared with his neck bleeding and badly out of breath. As the man could not talk English it was some time before it could be found what was the matter but a young lady living in that burg who could understand the language was secured and she discovered that Zdunek had been attacked by his companion who was apparently bent on robbery.

The assault took place near the MacKinnon farm and Zdunek stated that his companion was walking behind him when he threw a rope over his head. The rope had a slipknot in it and Stankovitch attempted to pull it tight about his victim's neck, but the young fellow got his fingers under the rope and managed to keep it from choking him. Then a struggle began, Stankovitch striking Zdunek with his fist and Zdunek fighting back with his hands. Zdunek got his assailant's head in his mouth and bit him quite severely, which caused him to let up for an instant and then Zdunek managed to break away and started for Byron on the run, arriving at the boarding house on record time.

Later Stankovitch appeared on the scene and tried to turn the matter off as a joke but this would not go down with those who had seen the young fellow's neck which was badly cut by the rope and had all the appearance of being done by somebody who was in deadly earnest. Sheriff Welch was notified and he arrested Stankovitch and brought him to this city and lodged him in jail and on Monday morning he was taken before Justice Keyes and an adjournment was taken for one week.

The two men had been boarding together at the Heron house for some time past and had always been the best of friends and never had any trouble and on the morning when the assault was committed had come to town to attend church. They had both drawn their pay the day before and still had the greater part of their money with them and it is supposed that the assault was committed in order to obtain this money.

Stankovitch is a big well built fellow and as Zdunek is considerably smaller than him he was lucky in making his escape with as little injury as he received. His neck showed the marks of the rope the next day but otherwise he was all right.

County Board Adjourns.

The county board adjourned on Friday evening after being in session since the previous Tuesday, the session having been rather a short one.

The matter of electing a highway commissioner was postponed indefinitely, and one or two persons who had been in hopes of receiving the appointment for the place are disappointed. So far as can be learned, however, there are about the only people who are worrying over the matter.

The Marshfield fair association was given an appropriation of $1000 to assist the organization in the holding of a fair. Some people thought that this amount was pretty high, but the holding of a county fair is no small matter and many of those interested in the matter do a large amount of the work for nothing, and there is no reason why they should not be encouraged as much as possible.

Circuit Court Matters.

Circuit court convened in this city on Monday. Judge Charles M. Webb presiding. The entire criminal calendar has been disposed of at this time.

The case of the State of Wisconsin against Emil Prost was continued until the next term of court.

In the case of the state against Hugh McCaustland there was insufficient evidence to convict and the defendant was discharged. State against Frank Martinson. Nolle.

State against Emory Lee was continued until the next term of court.

State against Fred O. King for violating the fish laws defendant was discharged on account of an error in the complaint.

Nothing to It

The St. Paul Gophers played a game of baseball in this city on Monday with the Athletics, the score being 12 to 0 at the end of the seventh inning. The weather was very threatening all the afternoon and it rained enough so that the ball was wet and hard to handle, making the game less interesting than it would have been otherwise. At last the rain did come down in good shape and the boys were compelled to quit. The crowd was very small on account of the weather and some of those that did attend were wet thru.

Mrs. LeVin Has Gone.

Mrs. Violet LeVin, who was confined in the county jail awaiting the May session of the circuit court on the charge of polygamy, was on Saturday released and by this time is supposed to have reached a haven where the arm of the law will not reach her.

Habeas corpus proceedings were begun by her attorney, Geo. P. Hambrecht, and when brought before the court it was proven that the complaint against her had been prepared by her husband, or the man feigned by her husband, and as the action could not be brought by him the woman was released. Then she took what movable property she had and got aboard the St. Paul train and was out of town before anything was done to detain her. She was accompanied by her first husband, who had been here for some time trying to obtain her release.

Violet's matrimonial affairs were a little tangled. It seems that she was first married to LeVin a number of years ago. Then LeVin was sent to Waukon for a term of years, and without going thru the formality of obtaining a divorce she married George Payne who was an innocent party when he learned of her first marriage, got a divorce for her from LeVin. Then when LeVin's term drew near a close he wrote to Violet and made the arrangements for meeting her and leaving the country. Payne got onto the racket, however and had her arrested for polygamy and she was released on a bail bond of $200, Payne supplying the bond. Then LeVin appeared on the scene and Payne refused to go her bond any longer and she was confined in the jail where she remained until Saturday.

Linderman's Luck.

Mrs. F. P. Daly's offer to give a fine Kingsbury piano to the person who wrote the words "Mrs. Daly sells the old reliable Kingsbury piano" the greatest number of times on an ordinary postal card resulted in Mr. Linderman receiving a beautiful instrument at his home. It was awarded the prize by a committee composed of Dr. A. L. Kligman, Mr. E. B. Redford, Cashier of the Bank of Grand Rapids, and Mr. G. M. Hill, merchant.

Another contestant claimed to have written the sentence a greater number of times, but owing to the impossibility of the writing it was impossible for the judges to determine just how many words there were on this contestant's card. The piano was accordingly given to Mr. Linderman.

Much interest throughout this section of the country was stimulated by Mrs. Daly's offer, and there were many who set out to win. A great number were awarded prize certificates in accordance with the offer and will have an opportunity to obtain high grade pianos at large reductions in price.

The Kingsbury piano figures very prominently among musical people of this community. Many of our most prominent residents have purchased these instruments from Mrs. Daly and pronounce them perfect in tone, quality and action. In fact, the Kingsbury has a reputation from coast to coast as one of the best pianos made in this country of the kind. Therefore, are to be congratulated on their good fortune.

After the piano had been awarded the next four highest numbers received each a certificate were given $100. Then the next eight were given each a certificate for $75 and the next twenty-five were each given a certificate for $50 and the balance of the $6000 was divided up according to the number of sentences on their card.

An Average Spring.

It may be of interest to those who are desirous of knowing as to whether our spring is late or early, that the records kept by Mr. Mahoney at his observatory shows that the plum trees are in bloom.

In 1908 on May the 7th.
In 1904 on May the 10th.
In 1905 on May the 9th.
In 1906 on May the 10th.
In 1907 on May the 24th.
In 1908 on May the 10th.

It will appear from this that we are fourteen days earlier this year than last, and that last spring was an unusually late one.

Baseball Sunday.

John O'Connor, Eli Crotteau and D. Harney of Marshfield were in the city on Tuesday for the purpose of looking over things at the monthly stock fair with the intention of discovering the secret of holding a successful fair and then taking it home with them and applying it to Marshfield. They were quite favorably impressed with the appearance of things at the fair and the amount of business that was being done there.

Mollie who also presented the numerous beautiful silver presents consisting of knives, forks, cake trays, pickle forks, spoons and several other useful pieces of silverware. After the ceremony congratulations were in order and there were numerous keeping Mr. and Mrs. Chose busy for about half an hour, shaking hands with their friends.

The Dolly Dimple opera company at the Grand Monday evening was the best thing of the kind that has been here for many a year. In fact one man stated that he had lived here for thirty-five years and that it was the best thing that had ever been in town in that time.

It was a mighty good fellow who could not work up some kind of a laugh as there was something doing about all the time, there was also some good singing and music, making a fine evening's entertainment.

The plant of the Grand Rapids Brick Co. started up on Monday morning. This is a little late to start up, as it is generally conceded that the danger of frost is over after the first of May. # GREAT CHURCH CONFERENCE OPENED AT BALTIMORE

BALTIMORE.—The quadrennial session of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church—its supreme legislative and judicial body—opened in this city May 6, and will continue its work until some time in the first week of June. This church is the largest of the Protestant denominations in this country, with a membership of 3,300,000 of the laity, about 20,000 ministers and 14,000 local preachers. To represent this vast host about 850 delegates assembled in the general conference, half of them laymen, there being included in the latter class a score or so of "elect women," for since the year 1900 women may be sent as delegates to the general conference.

The cosmopolitan aspects of this body may be inferred from the fact that there are 300,000 members in the 20 Afro-American conferences in the south, besides missions in Africa on the east and west coasts, and in Rhodesia, where Bishop J. C. Hartzell and his colored associate, Bishop Scott, have done some remarkable work. There are missions also in China, Korea, Japan, Burma, the Philippine Islands, India and many countries of South America, besides Methodist centers in Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Bulgaria, Sweden, Denmark, Norway, and France. The General conference alone aggregates 100,000 members and 1,000 ministers.

Dr. William F. Anderson, for the past four years corresponding secretary of the board of education with headquarters in New York city, has become widely known in view of the ability he has shown as an administrator of the important educational interests which have been in his care. He is a west Virginian by birth, an alumnus of Ohio Wesleyan university and of Drew Theological seminary, 48 years old and a man of attractive presence in the pulpit and on the platform.

Rev. Dr. Freeman D. Howard of San Francisco, editor of the California Christian Advocate, and a recognized leader of the interests of Methodism on the Pacific coast, has been of service in the rehabilitation of the city people of the Methodist Episcopal church. This aggregation would be colossal in size and importance, made up as follows: African Methodist Episcopal, 550,000; African M. E. Zion, 580,000; Colored Methodist Episcopal (formerly of the M. E. church, South), 225,000; making a denomination of about 2,000,000 in membership, including, as do the figures above given, more than 20,000 ministers.

The denominational publishing interests will command attention, of course, in view of their magnitude and vitalizing relation to all other interests of the church. Methodists in Maine, agents of the Methodist Book Concern in Boston, Pittsburgh and Detroit; and Messrs. Jennings and Graham, agents of the Western Methodist Book Concern in Cincinnati, with branches in Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco, have for two quadrenniums advanced the business under their care to a point never before attained. The total assets overran $4,000,000; the sales of books and periodicals aggregated $2,000,000 a year; last year a dividend from the profits of the two eastern publishing houses was made to the denomination, their widows and orphans, amounting to $150,000.

For half a dozen years there have been several projects looking to the consolidation of the manufacturing plants of the two Book Concerns, and their unification under a single manager, with proper assistants.

Oppose Central Plant. The local interests at Cincinnati and in New York city have antagonized these propositions, especially that part of them which suggested the establishment of a central plant, perhaps in some inland town for the supposed sake of economy, where all the printing and manufacturing should be done. Two elements, it would seem, will suggest caution just at this juncture were such a proposition to be made once more at the general conference. The first is the unprecedented success which has been won under the present management; and the second is the fact that the financial situation just now is so fluctuating as to forbid undertaking any such revolutionary enterprise as would be involved in the dismantling of two great publishing houses to enter upon an experiment in which hundreds of thousands of dollars must be invested before any return can be warranted.

The time limit will come up once more for discussion. Methodism had no time limit at first in its pastorate; it was the practice of the pioneer Bishop Ashbury to change men from one field to another every three or six months, to keep them on the move. In 1804 a time limit of two years was fixed; this was in 1804 extended to three years; in 1838 the time was fixed at five years; and in 1900 it was removed altogether. Hence it has occurred that a few men have been able to command places to hold their own in the great cities alongside of the representatives of other denominations who have obtained a local influence and prestige in the church through the policy whereby they were able to stay in one field indefinitely.

Leaders in the Church. Among the men who will be in the forefront by reason of recognized leadership are Rev. Dr. James N. Buckler, editor for 28 years of the Christian Advocate, New York, confessedly the master of the floor and of the questions that come before the body for discussion; Gov. Hanford of Indiana; Gov. Hoch of Ohio; Rev. Dr. Levi Gilbert, editor of the Western Christian Advocate, in Cincinnati; Dr. D. Thompson, editor of the North-western Christian Advocate, in Chicago; Dr. Stephen J. Herben, editor of the Epworth Herald; Dr. Henry Wade Rogers, dean of the Law school of Yale university; Gov. Guetel of Colorado; Hanford, of the west; Robert T. Miller of Cincinnati, former president of the inland Oil company, and scores of college presidents, business men, expert in financial and local church administration, and other local and lay leaders.

There is a movement now going on which in due time will solve many problems connected with the race—the project to unite organically all the Afro-American Methodist denominations, including the 300,000 colored people of the Methodist Episcopal church. This aggregation would be colossal in size and importance, made up as follows: African Methodist Episcopal, 550,000; African M. E. Zion, 580,000; Colored Methodist Episcopal (formerly of the M. ## 90 BUSHELS OF OATS TO THE ACRE.

WHAT MR. KALTENBRUNNER HAS TO SAY ABOUT HIS GRAIN CROPS IN CENTRAL CANADA.

Writing from Regina, Saskatchewan, Central Canada, Mr. A. Kaltenbrunner writes:—

"Some years ago I took up a homestead for myself, and also one for my son. The half section which we own adjoins the Moose Jaw Creek; is a low, level and heavy land. We put in 20 acres of wheat in stubble which went 20 bushels to the acre, and 20 acres of summer fallow, which went 25 bushels to the acre. All the wheat we harvested this year is No. 1 Hard. That means the best wheat that can be raised on the earth. We did not sell any wheat yet, as we intend to keep one part for our own seed, and sell the other part to people who want first class seed, for there is no doubt if you sow good wheat you will have good wheat. We also threshed 2,000 bushels of first class oats out of 160 acres. 80 acres has been full plowing, which yielded 90 bushels per acre, and 80 acres stubble, which went 30 bushels to the acre. These oats are the best kind that can be raised. We have shipped three carloads of them, and got 53 cents per bushel cash. All our grain went in the last week of the month of August before any frost could touch it. Notwithstanding the fact that we have had a late spring, and that the weather conditions this year were very adverse and unfavorable, we will make more money out of our crop this year than last.

"For myself I feel compelled to say that Western Canada crops cannot be checked, even by unusual conditions. Information regarding free homestead lands in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta may be had on application to any Canadian Government Agent, whose advertisement appears elsewhere. He will give you information on a host of other things and what it will cost you to reach these lands for purposes of inspection.

BUYING PAINT BLINDLY. Many people look upon paint buying as a lottery and so it is, the way they do it. It is not necessarily so, however. Pure White Lead and the seed oil are the essential elements of good paint. Advertisements in white lead can be easily found by the use of a blowpipe. Advertisements in linseed oil can be detected with a fair degree of certainty. See that these two elements are pure and properly put on and the paint will stay put.

National Lead Company, Woodbridge, Building, New York City, will send a blow pipe and instructions for testing both white lead and linseed oil, on request.

Just a Deduction. A polite little girl was dining one day with her mother. Everything at the table was unusually clean, bright and unexceptionable, but on this occasion the little girl found a hair in her fish.

"Grandma," she said, sweetly, "what kind of fish is this?"

"Halibut, my dear."

"Oh," replied the child, "I thought perhaps it was mormon."

Insect Chemists. Failing to bite sugar from several lumps, some marked bees under observation of Gaston Bonnier, a French naturalist, flew away, returning in an hour or two with other workers, after visiting a fountain. Settling on the sugar, they were seen to pump water from their crops, when they sucked up the syrup so formed.

She Didn't Understand. "Can you tell your present fiancée's ring?" inquired the romantic girl as the door bell sounded.

"Why, certainly," answered her practical friend. "It's the newest of the lot."

A remarkable editorial under the caption "What the Common People are Saying," appeared in the Milwaukee Free Press the organ of Uncle Stephenism. The Free Press desires the republican party to nominate Robert M. La Follette for president and is telling many truths about Taft. La Follette's popularity comes from the fact that for nearly a dozen years that gentleman has been talking democracy. The result of his agitation which has been echoed in the Milwaukee organ, is to set the people who have through force of habit voted the republican ticket for years to thinking, and they want revision of tariff, control of the railroads, trusts and combines, Bryan, the common people know to be honest and a sincere advocate of the measures that are for the interest of the common people and will vote for him this year. Nothing can prevent it.

"The advance of being the presidential candidate in effect somewhat by taking the president's candidate. The republican party, especially, has got so accustomed to picking its own candidate that it goes against the party's grain to have any one man—over so popular a man as President Roosevelt—tell it that he has selected its candidate for president. This objection may not show up so strong at the convention as many people think—but it is likely to show up a good deal stronger next November than many of them think.

"That is one of the Taft handicaps—and there are some others.

"There is the labor vote. Just what advantage the labor vote expects to gain by the election of Mr. Bryan or that of Mr. Taft—if Mr. Bryan and Mr. Taft are both nominated; or over Mr. Johnson, if he and Mr. Taft are nominated—we are unable to say; but they say they will not vote for Taft.

"A well posted farmer—long a Republican politician in his locality—told the Free Press within the week that as it is in his neighborhood, either Bryan or Johnson will carry the state over Taft, or any other Republican than La Follette—or possibly Hughes.

"Why should there be any marked difference in the sentiment of different Republican localities in Wisconsin? This old Republican says that nine-tenths of the Republican farmers about him say, now, that they will not vote for Taft; and—he said—they would not vote for Roosevelt.

"He talked in this way: that 'the common people' are sick and tired of having 'them fellows' run things 'their own way.' It transpired during some minutes talk while waiting for a train that 'them fellows' are the 'gamblers and speculators of Wall-st'—headed by J. P. Morgan and J. D. Rockefeller, who are pretty generally admitted—as appears from talk to be heard here and there—by having brought on the 'hand made' that is the expression—made of last October—for the purpose of picking up good securities at panic prices; and then posing as the desirable citizens who saved the credit of the country.

"It is remarkable how widespread and deep-seated is this impression.

"Mr. Taft is regarded as friendly to 'the interests' and Mr. Roosevelt as exceedingly friendly to certain of them—namely United States Steel.

"Take one of those liberal-minded Republicans who talks about voting for Bryan, or for Johnson, and ask him what he means by it: what he hopes to gain by it: how people who are out of employment are to be given work by it; how wheels that are idle are to be started turning by it, and he struggles his shoulders and acknowledges that he does not care a blank about all that. 'We can stand it for four years, and we will give them fellows a lesson,' the fellows who have had things their way until the 'common people' have got sick of it.

"Ask him if they suppose that the malcontents of great wealth can not stand four lean years as well as the common sort who have little or nothing, and he recalls that we had some experience with hard times under Cleveland, and lived through it, and can do it again; and that if Taft is nominated, 'We are going to vote for Bryan.'

"Of course they will probably do no such thing; for although party ties do not bind as strongly this year as they do some times when the difference between the parties is greater than it is now, there will be reasons why they should think long and hard before going back on their consistent party record for many years, and vote to set up Democratic administration for four years—until 1913. That is a good while for a Democratic administration to be in power."

Mrs. S. Joyce, 180 Sullivan St., Claremont, N. H., writes: "About a year ago I bought two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure. It cured me of a severe case of kidney trouble of several years' standing. It certainly is a grand good medicine, and I heartily recommend it. Daily Drug & Jewelry Co. and Johnson & Hill Co."

Wants to be Governor.

The Tribune is in receipt of a long friendly letter from Sherburne M. Becker, former mayor of Milwaukee. We wish to acknowledge the receipt of same and say that we have carefully noted the contents.

We did not know that Mr. Becker remembered us, having never met him, but it seems that we were mistaken, and that he has only been waiting for the chance to come when he could ask a favor of us.

It seems that Mr. Becker wants to be governor of the state of Wisconsin. We had suspected as much for some time past and we are glad that he has come right out and asked us for it. Of course we cannot make any promises at the present time, but we will take his application under advisement. Mr. Becker says in his letter that "It has always been my practice to steer clear of custom and to avoid the influence and perfunctory methods of politicians when presenting myself to the people for their consideration."

He further says that he has a certain contempt for custom in politics. Well this has also been suspected by the public for some time past. In fact some people have gone so far as to say that Mr. Becker was the greatest grandstand player of the whole bunch, but then you mustn't pay any attention to what people say when you are in politics. Even if a man does tell the truth about it, you must not over and make the best of it.

Mr. Becker further says that he is not concerned enough to believe that he whole state of Wisconsin is lying awake nights waiting for him to say that he will consent to be a candidate for governor, but that he has finally determined to make the race. We give Mr. Becker credit for being right in both his statements noted in this paragraph.

Further on he states that he will be a candidate before the September primaries and while he is a republican by profession he wants it distinctly understood that he is not a factional party man, which we interpret to mean is that he will accept all the votes he can get, regardless of what political complexion the voter may be. We have met other politicians who were in the same boat (or balloon, as the case may be) as Mr. Becker. Nothing like being liberal minded when one is talking to a democratic newspaper and running on the republican ticket.

He further states that he subscribes to the onerous policies of our honored president, Theodore Roosevelt and he positively refused to be controlled by party bosses "interests," etc. Well, that's all the style now, and he has been ever since the writer believes on the first political speech. It's the other fellows that have the machine and should be kept out of power.

Mr. Becker further states that if anybody thinks they will get any easy money out of him by joining his following they will get badly left as there won't be any barrel connected with his campaign. We hardly know how to take this statement. Maybe the present letter will be followed by later advice furnishing a key, discount sheet or something of that sort, and in the meantime we advise our friends to make time until they get some orders from headquarters.

In the meantime, however, we advise all of our republican friends to vote for Mr. Becker and do all they can to put him into nomination. He isn't a saint, nor he isn't a half breed. He is just a republican. We don't know what he means by this, but he probably does. How a man can live in Wisconsin and be just a plain republican without any bias toward either wing of the party, is beyond our comprehension. He is certainly a political curiosity. We knew another man once who was that kind of a republican, but he was in office and was hoping for the nomination again. He has since retired to private life. It is perfectly natural for Mr. Becker to want to be governor of Wisconsin. It is only a step from Mayor of Milwaukee to governor of Wisconsin. However, it is a step that some of them never take.

SKIN CURE A SIMPLE WASH.

Internal Remedy for Eczema Sufferers Greatly Simplifies the Treatment.

If you are suffering from any burning itching skin disease, the only way to cure it is to go right after the real trouble—to cure the skin itself.

Thousands of patients have suffered for months in vain attempts to doctor their blood when the whole trouble was located in the skin and was caused by the unsightly blotches and sores.

Skin specialists now prescribe a simple liquid wash, easy to apply, which gives instant relief. This remedy is composed of oil of wintergreen to which are added healing vegetable remedies. Oil of wintergreen alone will not cure, but a course of experts in Chicago, headed by a noted specialist, experimented with other medicinal properties until they found the proper preparation. The result of their efforts is called D. D. D. Prescription, a sure specific for the cure of skin diseases.

Here is only one instance of what D. D. D. Prescription has done: "My little girl's head was a raging sore. D. D. D. Prescription has cured her sound and well."—B. L. Hipp, Phil Campbell, Ala.

If you are suffering from any skin disease, would it not pay you to try one bottle of D. D. D. Prescription? You probably have spent many times the cost of one bottle vainly trying to stop that awful burning itch. John E. Daly Drug & Jewelry Co. Call at our store for a free booklet on the care and nutrition of the skin with suggestions as to the use of D. D. D. Soap. This valuable booklet is absolutely free.

For stomach troubles, biliousness and constipation try Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. Many remarkable cures have been effected by them. Price, 25 cents. Samples free. For sale by Daily Drug & Jewelry Co.

Stenographers in Demand.

The State Civil Service Commission finds it difficult to fill vacancies in the State service on account of the small number of available candidates. The demand for stenographers is increasing and at present is greater than the supply.

In the state stenographic examination held August 24, 1907, one hundred and two stenographers made application, sixty-four appeared at the examination and thirty-eight passed.

February 14 and 15, 1908 another state stenographic examination was held. Ninety applied, sixty-six were examined and thirty-four passed.

At the present date, April 27, 1908, the eligible list for positions paying from $10 to $35 a month is nearly exhausted and another examination must be held soon.

The majority of the stenographic positions in the state service pay salaries of from $25 to $30 a month, and it is for filling these positions that there is a scarcity of candidates.

The stenographic profession, from a money point of view, seems a desirable one to enter, as there are so few stenographers who are willing to enter the state service under $30 a month.

First class stenographers seem to have no trouble in finding remunerative employment.

Town Boards Should Apply.

The Highway Division of the Geological Survey advises the farmers of Wisconsin contemplating road and bridge improvement to send in their applications for advice and assistance at once. The appropriation for this work is only $10,000. This means that communities can be reached. To this appropriation percentage the Highway Division offers heavy co-operation.

The Highway Division will, upon application, inspect roads which are difficult to maintain and tell how to remedy existing conditions as quickly and cheaply as possible; make practical suggestions for relocation, grading or drainage; examine old bridges and estimate carefully the cost of new ones; in short, insure the farmers of Wisconsin the best possible results at the least possible expense.

This competent advice, practical assistance, and whatever possible (in the case of stone or gravel roads), outfit of road machinery are offered by the Highway Division upon application entirely free of charge.

Information for Athletes.

Lawrence University, May 11.—Grand Rapids high school athletes who are planning to attend the eighth annual Northwest Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic meet to be given by Lawrence University, Appleton, on Saturday, May 23, will be pleased to learn that a definite hour has been set for the running off of every event on the program, this step having been definitely decided upon by the Lawrence Athletic Board of Control at a meeting held last Saturday afternoon. Heretofore there has simply been an order of events, but this year there will be both an order and time of events, thus making it possible for every participant to know in advance just what events it will be possible for him to enter. The schedule issued Saturday will avoid the possibility of conflicts and will be of great assistance to every athlete in the meet. Pamphlets giving the time and order of events will be mailed to the Grand Rapids high school this week, so that athletes from that city can post themselves accordingly.

While the Grand Rapids high school has not as yet been formally entered in the meet, it has been learned that a team of from five to seven men will be sent to Appleton on May 23. The Lawrence management of the meet last Saturday decided to bar out Rice Lake and one or two other schools of the southern section of the state who are not within the required 150 mile radius from Appleton. This has been done so as to make the meet strictly a northwest Wisconsin affair. Some of the schools out of the district have even volunteered to pay their own expenses.

BIRON.

There was quite a flurry of excitement in our Biron Sunday. One of the Russians, who is employed here, attempted to strangle a Russian friend of his, his object being, it is thought, to steal his money. They were on their way back from church when suddenly one of them pulled from his pocket a rope, previously slipped-knotted and threw it over his friend's head and would apparently have choked him to death had not the attacked one bit his opponent's hand badly. With much struggling he finally succeeded in loosening the knot and got away. He ran to Biron quickly pursued by his opponent who tried his best to overtake him but failed. After reaching our burg, the guilty one came to a realization of what he was doing and tried to joke it off but the neck of the other, which was terribly swollen and bleeding, signified no joke whatever. So the sheriff was notified at once and after he received good information, the guilty party was given a ride to your city.

Yesterday at about noon a gasoline explosion occurred in Aug. Brandecker's tin shop where he was repairing a gasoline tank, the front window of the building being blown out by the force of the explosion. The tank contained a small amount of gasoline and the heat of the soldering iron generated gas and caused the can to blow up. Mr. Brandecker realized that there was danger of an explosion and went into his living room back of the tin shop and told his wife he was afraid there was going to be an explosion. He stepped back into the tin shop but before he got to where the can stood the explosion took place.

Every man that has disappeared within the memory of man is now supposed to be one of the victims of Mrs. Belle Guinness, the Indiana murderer. Grand Rapids is a trifle behind the times in this respect for up to the present time nobody has been missed from this city nor has any of the male population been in correspondence with the object of matrimony.

The 17th of May is the day that the Norwegians celebrate. Not that the average Norwegian is at all mean about it and refuses to celebrate about the rest of us. But the 17th has a tender significance with him, very much like the Fourth of July to an American. There is a reverence and a justification at the same time. We have not heard that the Norwegians in this community intend any demonstration on that occasion but in many localities where there are a large number of this class they make quite a day of the event.

The suggestion that a fireman be stationed in every schoolhouse as in the theaters, is receiving wide attention, favorable and unfavorable. The best opinion, says the Boston Herald, seems to be that while the services of a fireman would be useful in an emergency, those of a live and capable janitor or janitors ought to be sufficient for guardianship purposes, especially in properly constructed and properly equipped schoolhouses, with well drilled pupils. No fireman should be expected to supply the lack of these.

FOUR MORE BODIES

GUINNESS FARM MYSTERY BECOMES MORE GRESOME.

TWO CORPSES IDENTIFIED

Relatives Recognize Those of Jennie Olson and Andrew Helgelein—May Have Been Shipped from Chicago.

Laporte, Ind.—A possible solution of the Guinness farm mystery, which was deepened Wednesday when four additional bodies were found in the barnyard, developed late in the afternoon. Evidence that the nine dismembered corpses so far unearthed had been shipped to this city, probably from Chicago, came to light, the testimony of draymen, who had carried trunks and boxes to the Guinness home bearing this out.

In addition, the local authorities received information that two trunks, consigned to "Mrs. Belle Guinness, Laporte, Ind.," were being held in an express office in the larger city and the assistance of the Chicago police in unravelling the puzzle was sought at once.

Two Bodies Identified.

Two of the nine mutilated bodies were identified Wednesday afternoon with considerable certainty. Antonio Olson, 210 Indiana avenue, Chicago, viewed the remains supposed to be those of Jennie Olson, the 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. Guinness, and pronounced them those of his daughter.

Ask K. Helgelein, whose inquiries regarding his missing brother, Andrew, led to the first discovery of the bodies, and he became sure that the largest and best preserved of the corpses is that of his relative. Against this, however, is the result of the autopsy performed on this particular body by Dr. J. H. William Meyer. He found contradictory conditions which he could not at first understand. The dead man perished long after Andrew Helgelein disappeared in January last, even going so far as to say that the corpse showed evidences of having been in the ground less than two weeks. Ask Helgelein, however, refused to be convinced by these facts, and his conviction led the local authorities to accept his identification, at least for the present.

Lamphere Says Nothing.

Roy Lamphere, who is held on a charge of first degree murder growing out of the first which developed in the Guinness farm case, was asked by Mrs. Guinness and her three children, offered no new evidence, despite repeated questionings. Ralph N. Smith, the prosecuting attorney of the district, asserted, however, that a confession is not necessary so far as Lamphere is concerned. "You have positive evidence in the shape of letters connecting Lamphere with the murders at the Guinness farm," he said. The exact nature of these letters was carefully guarded by Mr. Smith.

The increasingly divergent character of the gruesome mysteries has aroused the entire community. The county commissioners of Laporte county decided to offer a reward of $1,000 for a solution of the enigma.

Third Body Identified.

Laporte, Ind.—The identification of another of the bodies dug up in the Guinness farm case here as that of Ole B. Hudsberg of Iowa, Wis., and evidence that he, like Andrew Helgelein of Mansfield, S. D., had been brought into Mrs. Belle Guinness' not through "matrimonial" advertisements was one of the clarifying features of Thursday's developments in the case.

The identification of the bundle of bones and flesh as the remains of Hudsberg was made by the man's sons, Nat Hudsberg, aged 25 years, and Oscar H., two years his junior.

Grand jury action in the case of Roy Lamphere was postponed, several new witnesses against him having been found.

At Marcho, the Polish settlement, was badly damaged and John Lukaszewicz, Mary Szczepanek and an unidentified man were killed. ## FOUR KILLED IN FLAMES

NEW YORK TENEMENT-HOUSE FIRE PROBABLY INCENDIARY.

Mother Trying to Reach Safety Drops Child and Is Burned to Death—Twenty Injured.

New York.—Four persons were killed and 12 injured Thursday in a fire believed to have been incendiary in origin, which destroyed a tenement house. The dead are: Eva Berg, 53 years old; Samuel Sach, 12 years old; Hattie Koplemann, 2½ years old; and an unidentified man.

Policemen carried several children to the ground before the flames arrived. Men, women and children were packed so closely on the narrow fire escapes that no one could get down. While persons in the building who had been unable to get out because all the windows leading to the fire escapes were crowded struggled for exit on one side, the firemen on extension ladders worked on the other.

One by one the women and children were dragged from the overcrowded platforms and carried down the ladders to the street. More than a hundred persons were taken from the fire escapes in this way.

It was in attempting to reach the upper part of the house that little Hattie Koplemann, lost her life. Her mother had a remarkably narrow escape from death. Mrs. Koplemann had gone out on a fire escape, intending to make her way to the roof, as the flames were sweeping around the house.

ONE MORE BODY DUG UP IN MRS. GUINNESS' BARNYARD.

PROBABLY WAS A WOMAN

Witness Found Whose Story Tends to Prove Lamphere Knew of Crimes and Tried to Blackmail.

Laporte, Ind.—One more body was added to the death roll of the Guinness farm Friday, the gruesome relics now numbering ten.

Coroner Mack's first announced that the grave opened in the morning contained one complete cadaver and portions of a second, but in the evening said that what he had at first believed to be additional thigh and arm bones are in reality pieces of the first set.

Other important developments of the day included the following: Peter Colson, a new witness in the case, told R. N. Smith, the prosecuting attorney, that Ray Lamphere had acknowledged attempts to blackmail Mrs. Guinness. This is considered as definitely establishing a motive for a disagreement between Lamphere and the woman which resulted later in the burning of the farmhouse.

Mrs. Leo Greening said that her son Emil, who formerly worked on the notorious farm, saw two strangers at the place the night that Jennie Olson disappeared in November, 1906. Greening is now in Oklahoma City. He said the sheriff's office will try to communicate with him in the hope of establishing the fact that Mrs. Guinness had accomplices in the murders at her place.

Matt and Oscar Rudsberg departed for Iowa, Wis., in the afternoon, after making arrangements to have the bodies of their father, Ole Rudsberg, shipped to that town as soon as Coroner Mack releases it for burial.

Sheriff Grieco, Chief of Police Ankerberg and Dr. White, all of Fort Wayne, visited the Guinness farm in the afternoon and had a long conversation with the family. The three would reveal the object of their visit and all refused to discuss a report that they were searching for a missing resident of Fort Wayne.

15 YEARS OF SUFFERING.

Burning, Painful Sores on Legs—Tortured Day and Night—Tried Many Remedies to No Avail—Cured by Cuticura.

"After an attack of rheumatism, running sores broke out on my husband's legs, from below the knees to the ankles. There are no words to tell all the discomforts and great suffering he had to endure night and day. He used every kind of remedy and every physician treated him, one after the other, without any good results whatever. One day I ordered some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. He began to use them and in three weeks all the sores were healed. The burning fire stopped, and the pain became bearable. After three months he was quite well. I can prove this testimonial at any time. Mrs. V. V. Albert, Upper Frenchville, Me., July 21, 1907."

He Didn't Care.

"I like simplicity," said Senator Beveridge to a Washington reporter. "Simplicity saves us a lot of trouble. Two men met in front of a hotel one day and fell into a political argument. They were ordinary, everyday sort of men, but one of them had an extraordinary way of polysyllabic language. He talked half an hour, and his companion listened in a daze. 'Ah' now," the speaker pompously concluded, "perhaps you will coincide with me?"

"The other's face brightened up. 'Why, yes, thanks, old man,' he declared heartily, moving toward the barroom. 'I don't care if I do.'"

Home Magazine.

The Details.

"The particulars of the case were shot in the back, originally, and went around with his back bent a good deal like an interrogation mark, until he got a portly slab of back pension. Then he straightened up his back until it was decidedly concave instead of considerably convex, dyed his whiskers a fishy black and let out in a put of a box of bismuth, who, being a widow, knew exactly how to be caught while maintaining all the symptoms of eluding capture to the very best of her ability."—Smart Set.

Menu Thoroughly Varied.

James McNeill Whistler once visited an artist in Paris who was not overburdened with this world's goods, and was surprised at the sumptuous lunch provided. On being asked how he managed to live so well, his host replied: "I have a pet monkey, which I let down from my window by a rope into that of my landlady, and trust to Providence. Sometimes Jacko returns with a loaf, sometimes with a ham. His visits are full of surprises. One never knows what may appear."
